to another, such bills must be necessary. As regards that they should be so, but the time for consideration of the public business was in such haste that temporary supplies were not required.

Mr. HOLT said there had been no such state of affairs in the legislation of responsible government. If the named Government had committed majorities of 200 and monthly Supplies Bills would have been introduced, and the Opposition would have been able to defeat the existing Government had shown the greatest impatience in the introduction of responsible government. There, the Government would have been able to conduct the business of the day.

(Mr. SAMUEL: We had one majority of 10 to 3.) On small matters; but in the constitution of the Government.

Mr. MARKS, in reply, said there were some bills in respect that the applications for monthly Supply Bills were not so urgent. But in the case of the present Government the majority had weakened to the inconvenience, the tardiness of the repetition, and that the feeling of the people had carried a weight which would not be met if there should be any relaxation of the Government. It was not possible that any such thing was to be realized in future. Some persons might be able to say that the Government of the public business was not progressing satisfactorily. The Assembly, he believed, was as anxious as the Government to be enabled to carry out the business of the day, and that the time might be coming when they would settle the matter.

He then read a second time, passed through Committee of the Whole, and returned to the Assembly without amendment.

At 11 minutes business was suspended until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

THE PHOTODUPLICATION.—We have received a photolithograph copy of the letter purporting to have been written by Mr. Buchanan to Sir John Robertson, at the time of the recent general election, but the paternity of which Mr. Buchanan emphatically denies. Accompanying the copy is a printed circular bearing the following words:—"The following is a copy of the letter which Sir John Robertson received from Mr. Buchanan under which he received the letter, and republishing some of the correspondence which took place on the subject. The following is Sir John Robertson's explanation:—"With a considerable number of other letters I found, on entering the Colonial Secretary's Office, a letter from Mr. Buchanan, which I thought was above is a copy. My colleagues, Messrs. Combes and Davies, happening to be present, I read the letter aloud, when, with but the exclamation, 'Impudence,' they turned away from me. I then showed the letter to them see it, and while I attended to something else they read it and left it on my table with the remark, 'What a piece of impudence!' At the same time, during which several persons saw it. When informed that Mr. Buchanan intended to oppose the re-election of my colleague, Mr. Jacob, it was not till some time afterwards that I showed him Mr. Buchanan's letter, which I did; and no one could have been more surprised than I was when I saw in the Standard of the 10th inst. that Mr. Buchanan reported it, for the idea that any other person could have dared to say that an author had never suggested either to me, nor, so far as I know, did it to any of the other gentlemen who saw it, was so absurd that I could hardly believe it. I had received the letter; had openly and fairly given it to Mr. Jacob for exhibition—not behind Mr. Buchanan's back—but in his presence; and if Mr. Buchanan had been present, I should have been the first to have thought that denial true—at any rate should have felt bound to accept it. But why Mr. Buchanan's towered so against mine? Why, when speaking of the letter, say—'It was an outrage, a forgery, a lie. He pledged his word of honour that he had never written it, and that he had never seen it, and that he had never for the last five years. Thus they attempted to gain their ends, by fraud and forgery, and Sir John Robertson, who is not a man to be easily deceived, was equal to scheming and detecting such a fraud!' Why all this violence and abuse, unless Mr. Buchanan had been present, and had seen the letter in place, and that his only way out of it was to put a bold face on the unfortunate business, deny the letter, and then, by the way, to publish the copy of the letter, and comparing it with the copy of Mr. Buchanan's undoubted handwriting, it is impossible to arrive at any other conclusion than that the celebrated letter was a forgery. I am sure that Sir John Robertson might have been satisfied with the evidence. But sight there seems to be a certain apparent impropriety in the writing, but on a closer inspection there are many points of difference, which I think must have been executed by the same person. The letter is written in a much free hand, and is written in a more elegant and flowing style than Mr. Buchanan, whose style of writing is somewhat heavy and cramped. Many of the letters are written in a different style from that employed by Mr. Buchanan.

A meeting of the members of the New South Wales Political Reform League was held last night, at 10, Oxford-street, for the purpose of discussing a motion which was occupied by Mr. Viscountess, that it should be decided that it had been his intention that evening to review the Electoral Law Amendment Bill of the present Government, and that the League to express its opinion upon its provisions, and to draw attention to the influence to bear upon the Government in regard to any portion of it to which they might object; but, Mr. Viscountess declared that he obtained a copy, that he must defer that intention. Mr. Viscountess explained to the meeting such provisions as he thought an amended Act should contain in order to meet the views of the members of the League in general, and moved,—"That as early as possible after the bill shall have been laid upon the table of the House a meeting of the Council, shall be convened to the purpose of discussing the merits of the bill, and the motion." Put and carried. Messrs. Dooley, Newman, O'Connell, and Anderson were appointed a committee

FIRE.—Two alarms of fire were rung yesterday.

The first occurred about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, on

The premises of Mr. Joseph J. Pattison, grocer, of 229 River Road, Newtown. At one time the fire threatened the premises, but the firemen of the board building, but the Newtown Fire Brigade arrived on the spot very quickly, and by the aid of a plentiful supply of water, the fire was extinguished in a moment. There were enabled to extinguish it unassisted. There was no damage done to the ground in a short space of time, but owing to the promptitude of the local brigades their services were not sought in requisition. The fire was confined to the premises of Mr. Joseph J. Pattison, and the amount of about £200. It is believed that some matches on the floor were accidentally ignited by being thrown away, and the fire is attributed to them. The property was not insured, and the loss was about £400. At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in the premises of Mr. Charles Williams, painter, of 248, Crown-street, Wexford, a fire broke out, and in a few minutes it was in a black room, but, as the fire was not so much as to reach the roof, it was extinguished in a sufficient to extinguish it. It is supposed that a spark from burning wood in the grate caused the fire.

HOT ROLLING MACHINE FOR PRINTERS.—We were shown yesterday, whilst it was in operation at the Government Printing Office, a patent hot rolling-machine, invented by Mr. Richards, the Government Printer, this being the first recent visit of this gentleman to England, where the machine is of very recent invention and introduction. The machine is a massive machine, was shown at the Caxton Exhibition, and has attracted much of attention. It dries and hotpresses printed work as it comes from the printing-machines, removes the ink, and is used by the type, and hardens the paper, and imparts the gloss which is so characteristic of the cylinders which characterize the fine bookwork done in Europe and America. The machine is strong and massive, and the speed is at the rate of about 1600 an hour. The heavy rollers or cylinders are of cast-iron highly polished, and are long enough to admit of the passage between them of sheets of paper of the largest sizes. The cylinders, which are hollow, are driven by the wheels of a powerful steam engine. There is an excellent self-acting arrangement for cleaning the set-off from the rolls—a set of sponges fixed in movable troughs containing a solution of caustic soda, and arranged so as to pass over the rolls as they revolve, and by means of which contact effectually remove the ink that sets off upon them. The various connections are simple, ingenious, and of the best working parts, like those of most modern printing-machines. The rollers, the cylinders, the pinions, driving-wheels, and frames are remarkably strong, and the whole presents a highly finished appearance. Messrs. Smith and Co., of Manchester, are the patentees of the machine, and the sheets of the new time-tables and fares from January 24th, 1878 (distributed gratis in very great numbers) are "pocked" at every railway station in demand, were being made.

The excellence of the results bore testimony to the ability of the machine.

Traverse.—The City Corner held an inquiry, yesterday morning, at the Brecknock Arms Hotel, George street North, respecting the death of a woman whose name was being sought in the death of the late Slip Wharf, Darling Harbour. The first witness called was Charlotte Stanton, living at 33, Dav-street, who identified the body as that of Georgina McIntosh; the deceased, who was 41 years of age, was a widow, and had two children in the Benevolent Asylum; she had been a very good mother, and on Monday night witnessed her in the same bed as the deceased, but when she awoke about 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning she found the latter had gone out. Constable Macintosh said that early on Tuesday morning his attention was called to a woman loitering in the street, the two women were seen by him, and he saw that they were carrying away black dresses, which they then returned.

boots nor stockings on; he removed it to the dead-house. Alexander McIntosh, living at Redfern, said he was his sister, who had married a man of the same name, and had been in the asylum at Gladesville, where she was treated for insanity previous to her marriage, but was discharged cured. He said he was not at all acquainted with the person to be affected in her mind. Dr. Eichler, of Bridge-street, said he examined deceased; in his opinion death, which appeared to have taken place only a few days before death, was due to a violent attack by drowning. The jury returned a verdict that deceased was found drowned, but how the body came into the water there was no evidence to show.

Exhibits were taken to the Sydney Infirmary—John Kennedy, 25, ran over; James Dillon, 4, wound on sole of foot; Alfred Malburne, 8, crushed toe; Patrick EXHIBITS FOR PARIS.—Messrs. Turner and Henderson, of Hunter-street, have just shown us a very handsome illustration of local industry and art, with which they are exhibiting at the Paris Exhibition. The visitors at the Parisian Exhibition. It consists of a series of large photographs of scenery in Sydney, its environs, and the country, by Mr. A. Brodie, who has been employed by the Government to take the best pictures of such places as Middle Harbour, Willoughby Falls, and Govett's Leap. These, as well as some of the largest city buildings, are enclosed in a frame of silver, and are mounted on a board twelve inches wide, bound by Messrs. Boore and Long in Turkey morocco artistically embellished with oxidised mountings and raised bands. The conception is really appropriate, and the exhibition of the exports will be likely to attract a large amount of attention to the colony.

ITEN OVER.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a girl, aged about 12 years, daughter of Mr. David McHale, of Jamison-street, Surry Hills, was knocked down and run over by a cab in Oxford-street, and the driver of the cab was taken to the Infirmary by Constable Bullen, and after having the wounds dressed returned to her car.

INTERLUDE. ROWING MATCH.—The Argus of Saturday, alluding to the forthcoming intercolonial match, says:—"The river Yarra is now every afternoon a scene of considerable bustle and life. Most of the rowing clubs are out in the boats, engaged in their training campaign. The candidates for aquatic honours have consequently to undergo the trial and scrutiny of the water, and are not infrequently put to the test of the crew. Four and eight men from the various clubs are there regularly out each evening, either for the purpose of trying men, or indulging in preliminary practice. The intercolonial match, if it is to be taken, the intercolonial eight have been out each evening, four to five miles being the distance covered. These crews show an improved form. The dip of the oars is particularly well marked, and the rowers are in good trim at the beginning of the stroke. There is a want of regularity in the finish, several of the crew failing to pull in at the same time. It is a pity that this should be rectified as early as possible, as when in their light ship the fault will cause rolling and consequently ineffectiveness. Mr. Ward, the bow, who is particularly good, is well worthy of his position. He retaken his seat, in consequence of being by the more severe than was at first thought. A change may be made in the crew, but it is not probable that he had to retire through an injury to the arm, may take a place in the boat, as Mr. Sturt wishes to resign through the pressure of business and other engagements."

EU-PHONIC AND ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.—This above so iety, under the leadership of Mr. Graham, gave a complimentary concert last evening at the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the success of the performance being not only of a complimentary character, but the corps musical which took part in it, being almost exclusively amateurs, deserves any rigid criticism. This much, however, may truthfully be said, that if, as Mr. Graham, Mr. Postum, at very little profit to himself, draws about him a number of young people desirous of learning the use of string and wind instruments, and grammatically trained in the performance of the same, the orchestra does, he deserves the thanks of the community. Without specifying any particular number on the programme as worthy of exclusive commendation, it is not possible to do so, as the programme was so good one, considering that the performers did not affect any professional ability, with the exception of Mr. Hughes himself and Miss Martin; and when the true value of the performance is considered, the purpose of executing the works of great masters upon an extensive scale, much valuable material may be obtained in the Euphonic and Orchestral Society.

employer and employees took place yesterday at Corry's Gardens, Botany Bay, the occasion celebrated being the intended departure of Mr. John Hardie from Australia. The guests were numerous, desiring to show his appreciation of the services of those engaged in his extensive establishment in George-street, invited them and their friends to what he termed a "farewell collation." It was a most successful somewhat of a substantial meal to come under that denomination. About 200 sat down to an excellently-served collation in the pavilion, which was done up in the most elegant style, and used as a room for the reception of the guests. The toast, in which His Excellency the Governor was not forgotten, were drunk and responded to with perfect heartiness, and those were of course, warmly received by Mr. Hardie and family," which was received with musical honours. Mr. Rhnde, who had been in the employ of the firm twenty-six years, then presented Mr. Hardie with a testimonial consisting of a gold pencil-case, as a testimonial from the workmen of their sense of his liberality as an employer and his great personal generosity as a friend, and desired, on behalf of all present, to wish him success in his safe and prosperous voyage to England and a speedy return. The silver and jug, which were made in Sydney, were also presented. The silversmith's handwork, and the former mentioned as being very good.

Presented, together with claret jug, to John Hardie, Esq., on his departure for Europe, by the employees, on his testimony of their esteem for him as a kind and generous employer.

Sydney, 26th January, 1878. Mr. Hardie responded in appropriate and feeling terms, and said he trusted that he would never forget the kindness shown towards him and his family would long continue to cherish him should meet them all again on his return at the end of the year. He should preserve the handsome testimonial presented to him as a memento of the party, who, it need hardly be said, preponderated in number as well as in influence—was, as it ought to be, enthusiastically received. The company then separated, and the party of entertainment terminated for which, indeed, colonists invariably show a decided preference over other pastimes—viz., dancing; it is, in fact, our national weakness—or, shall it be said, our national strength?—and we are inclined to add, and the pavilion was taxed to its provisions to furnish sufficient room for the dancers. A large number of omnibuses and other vehicles had also been provided, so that the guests could go to and fro. The party were favoured with fine weather, and as all the accessories of enjoyment were to be found either in the gardens or in the bay, most if not all of the guests will have pleasant reminiscences of their day's outing.

SERIOUS AND FATAL COLLISION ON THE WESTERN LINE.

At about 2 o'clock this morning, news was received at the Telegraph Office, Redfern, of a collision having taken place shortly after 1 a.m., at Emu Plains, between two goods trains, by which a driver named Egan, and a fireman named Wiggins, were killed. Stevenson, another driver, and Larking, a fireman, are also reported as badly injured. An assistant guard named Brady is missing. The cause of the disaster and the amount of damage done to the locomotives and trucks are not yet known, but full particulars will be received in Sydney this morning.

THE PARS EXHIBITION COMMISSION.

A MEETING of the Pars Exhibition Commission took place at their offices, in Henri street, yesterday afternoon, when the chair was occupied by the Hon. John Hay, C. M., and were present Sir Alfred Stephen, the Hon. H. Samuel, C. M., G. M., M. P., the Hon. Sir John Holt, C. M., G. M., M. P., Mr. Burby, M. L. C., and Messrs. J. Alger, W. A. Brodribb, H. Halloran, C. S. Wilkinson, W. Wallis, R. D. Adams, and others.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

THE CHAIRMAN then explained that the business before the Commission was the resumption of a discussion on a motion he had previously moved, to the following effect:—
“That the Hon. Sir John Holt, to express the desire of the Government to co-operate with Mr. Morris, should the Government appoint him Executive Commission.” 2. That the foregoing resolution be referred to a sub-committee consisting of—

Mr. SAMUEL proposed an amendment to the following effect:—That a number of gentlemen, residents of the various countries, be appointed to form a committee of five commissioners at the Paris Exhibition, from whom a competent executive commissioner can be selected, that this Commission of opinion be the basis of the necessary action of the Government to limit the expense of sending to Paris a paid executive commissioner. His hope of very strongly to the original resolution was not shared by the majority of the audience, many members of the Commission had left the room, and he was taken with surprise by it. He heard Mr. Morris, who had been present, say that he had not been hardly imagined that it would be followed by the resolution. He thought the resolution took a great deal from the original resolution, and he was not in favour of it. The Commission voted a resolution recommending Mr. Morris as executive commissioner, so that it appeared to him that if they passed the present resolution they would be doing him wrong. He did not know of any unkind word against Mr. Morris, or act unfriendly towards him, but he could not help regretting to have to say that he had been so much misunderstood. He was on the account principally because he knew nothing of the French language, but also because that gentlemen might be placed on the same footing as the English and the Americans in Europe. They had Mr. Fowler, Sir Daniel Cooper, and a number of other gentlemen who had done good service to and great personal convenience, and if Mr. Morris was pleased to accept of the colony at the sacrifice of his money and his health, he would not be likely to be dissuaded from so good a plan. Therefore, if they appointed Mr. Morris they would be knowing those gentlemen. Not only so, but he would be able to give them the best of the information in the expense of sending an executive commissioner at all. The matter, however, related to the Government, and the Government would be obliged to appoint an executive commissioner to Paris. Seeing that the action of the Government was brought about entirely by the action of the colony, it was the duty of the colony to satisfy themselves by adopting the resolution. If they carried the resolution, they would be in the state of mind to accept of the recommendation of Mr. Morris, and afterwards passing a resolution recommending him.

Mr. Morris then read the resolution which had been agreed with his previous opinions as to the unsuitability of appointing Mr. or Mr. Calvert an executive commissioner. He then moved that the resolution be carried, and that the statement, where that gentleman referred to a resolution in favour of the appointment of a commissioner having not been carried, should be corrected so as to say that the Government carried his resolution as to leave out of it the words "executive commissioner" from the colony. The resolution was then carried, and Mr. Morris was appointed commissioner, but only that one should be appointed from somewhere or other, and after Mr. Calvert had explained it, he moved that the resolution be carried. He wished to declare leaving any personal predilection for any particular person, but he was anxious to see the colony in the state of mind for an executive commissioner.

ment, as he believed, not with the commission as such, but with the French language. He was a Frenchman, and he felt that the best of the Executive Commission, the most apt and an executive commission, would be one that could use and understand the French language. He thought that a purely English-speaking commission, though it might be able to express its views thoroughly in good English, would be at a disadvantage in its relations with the French language. No doubt, an intelligent commission could find out the value of the exhibits, but it would be at a disadvantage in its relations with the language, would be much more likely to lack the useful knowledge for the solution that a commission composed of Frenchmen would have. He thought that the French secretariat would be so busy that he could not attend to the interests of the colony properly, but when one is in his position, he has to do his best. He thought that the French Commission, and he had time both to impart and to receive useful information concerning the colony. This would not point out the French Commission as the best, but he would refer to the Hotel by the secretary of the Philadelphia Exhibition Commission, who was also their president. He thought that the French Commission would be more involved in sending a full executive commission to Paris would be in opinion to be infinitely better than in dissolving the commission and sending a small committee of twelve or fifteen—far better than sending home fifty paid commissioners having no knowledge of the French language.

And. What we wanted was a hard working man, whether he went from this side or from home, and he certainly was. He was a hard worker, and he was a good man. I went home. Mr. Samuel had made a great point of not understanding the French language, but he did not think it was so strong a point as Mr. Samuel supposed it to be. The fact was, he was a hard worker, and he was a good show-shop, and they wanted a good showman.

Mr. BRODIE said that in December last he proposed Mr. Morris to be recommended to the Government as the person to be sent to the Exhibition at London. He had made the motion it was supported by every gentleman in the room. He also proposed Mr. Robinson; but Mr. Robinson declined, and said he could not go under any circumstances. He said he was a hard worker, and he was a good show-shop, and they wanted a good showman. He declined, and led the gentlemen there to believe that he would not accept the appointment. As regards Mr. Morris's qualifications, he thought it had been shown that he could not accept the appointment.

Philadelphia, and who he proposed him on that occasion, he was not aware that Mr. Morris was not conversant with his views. He did not know that he was a very great objection; and he knew that Mr. Carey was a very great supporter of the cause. He was not aware that Mr. Morris was not conversant with his views. He did not know that he was a very great objection; and he knew that Mr. Carey was a very great supporter of the cause. He was not aware that Mr. Morris was not conversant with his views. He did not know that he was a very great objection; and he knew that Mr. Carey was a very great supporter of the cause.

Mr. TANNER had much pleasure in supporting the views of Mr. HOLT, and in the same manner he would certainly vote against the amendment.

Mr. TANNER said that he had been very much surprised to find that there were so many men of sufficient good old colonists at home,—men of great ability and of mark who might represent us. They would be able to give us the best of advice, and to be the interest of the colony, and he believed that by that means we should yet be well served. He had thought from the time that he had been appointed that we should be quite as well served at home as we could be by the appointment of a man from England, not only entailing any large expenditure on the colony. He believed the Agent-General would be offered the chairmanship of the committee, and that there would be sufficient gentlemen there to look after our interests.

Mr. HOLT said the impression on his mind was the more that the colony would be better served by the selection of the appointment, and Mr. Morris was in the same opinion as Mr. Robinson. When he asked Mr. Robinson whether he would go or not, he said, "No, Mr. Holt, I cannot go," but to his mind it was the unanimous opinion of the Commissioners that Mr. Morris should go, and that the appointment should be made by the colony, and not by the Commissioners. But he thought it was a compliment that was deserved, and he did not believe, from what Mr. Morris had said, that we should be better served by the appointment of a man that he would take it. For the whole ten or twelve months to require, which would take an intelligent man to get the meaning of the thing. It is not necessary to expect any gentleman to do that. The same interest in the lives of the other side to take the same interest in this side. Mr. Morris had always been looked upon as a great friend. Mr. Morris had always been looked upon as a great friend, and he thought he would have been almost unanimously voted for, and therefore he could not understand why he should be so much opposed. Mr. Morris would do the same at Paris. If they did not take that course, they would be sure to lose the exhibition. He was afraid they would do one of the greatest acts to detract from the influence of our exhibits, which they had taken the trouble to make.

Mr. HALLAM doubted if the Commission had the power of making any recommendation without the request of the Government. He thought it would be better to wait till the offer had been made, as it was stated, to Mr. Morris, by the Government. He certainly should vote for the amendment.

The Chairman then put the amendment, which was rejected on division by 7 against 3, and the resolution was carried by 8 against 3.

THE VICTORIAN CRISIS.
[FROM A CORRESPONDENT.] JANUARY 26.

THE weather has no chance with the Crisis. Nobody says it is a fine day, or a hot day, or a dusty day. Everybody says, "Is there anything new in the Crisis?" Even children talk about the Crisis. I heard a little fellow talking to another about Graham Berry. "Do you know what Graham Berry is?" says one to the other. "Yes, he's a thief," says the other; "my father says he's a thief, and he ought to be put in prison." "Then why don't they put him in prison?" "Because he has the key of the prison, and can let himself out." Young ladies an afternoon who never talked politics before, talk politics now. And they talk them seriously, for it has gone past joking. Yesterday, however, when the Government Gazette came out there was a sort of rejoicing. For, although some score more victims were named and to be in the proscription, it was negatively a satisfactory result. It was a step in the right direction. It commenced a retrograde movement, and had begun, however clumsily, to confess their blunder. I suppose there was never such a demand for the Government Gazette since its first issue as there was yesterday afternoon. I sent to the printing office for a copy, and it was duly delivered. I was not a little gratified that my messenger came back without one. When the evening paper came out, containing the re-published list of names, I was not surprised to find the further dismissal and the cancellation of previous dismissals.

exaggerate when I say that every second person I met was reading it. I think no burlesque was ever more successful than these announcements. It is only a few days since that Mr. Henry, the Attorney-General, the Crown Prosecutor, was gazetted a County Court Judge, and now his appointment is cancelled. On Monday, at noon, the Chief Secretary vowed he would have a garden, and he has got one, and his garden yields many yards. He declared it was a good thing to have got rid of Judges, coroners, and stipendiary magistrates, and now he restores several Judges, coroners, and stipendiary magistrates, and dismisses very naturally everybody else. "What next?" He is most successfully jumping down his own throat, and the fervent hope is, that he may not choke himself in the performance of the experiment.

In all this reckless scattering of destruction, which excites in turn consternation, disgust, ridicule, and sinister resentment, there is a generally understood object. It is to make sure of the power of the Government, to make sure of three hundred a year, not to establish the right of the Assembly to control the public money. It is well known that Mr. Berry has long had a reputation for being a man who would do anything for a share of the Victorian society variously denominated.

[illegible]

has not received the Benediction of the Gaetz, but the Government's policy is to have the Governor himself back Mr. Berry out to dance; and Mr. Charles Surface with "the little Nabob over the net," this saved him. The Chief Secretary will not permit Mr. Berry to be "the Nabob" at any point there has been just a supper, and then the Governor and Premier. There is going to be a flourish over the West Melbourne ceremony. If there be no "Nabob" at the party, it is over, I shall be surprised. The Government is not prepared to stir in St. Patrick's Hall the other evening, when Mr. Francis endeavoured in vain to address the electors; and I do not doubt that the Government will be of the Collingwood bootmakers who have no use of the paper thrown to create a disturbance was demagogical in its fury. This savagery, however, is regrettable. It shows that the Government is growing demagogical. It shows that the Government candidate, Sir Bryan O'Loughlin, is a worthy revolutionary in its tone. And, herein, is a curious illustration of the fact that this gentleman is quiet, inoffensive, and not given to extraordinary displays. The Prosecutor, he pleased every man, was most courteous and considerate, and justified the title of gentleman. But he is an incendiary. But then there are many forms of incendiarism, and it seems to me to be an example. He gives up fifteen hundred a year if he goes into Parliament, but then he may be Attorney-General. Barry, it is said, is very anxious to get into the House of Commons; his great demagogues, he is secretly a worshipper of rail, and no Ministry of Victoria has, as yet, included a baronet. A good deal has been said by their allies of the fact that they believe in the right of every man to be honest, they are brave in having determined upon this cuncto. Others who take a different view of their proceedings decline to recognise them. They say that if you were to turn the most mischievous weapons of the modern industrial machinery, and arm each of them with a crowbar, they could do more damage than many clergymen could repair in many long years. They say truly that the Government have done nothing since the Ephesian deed;" nor Jonathan Martin, who turned the Portland Yeast Minister; nor that madman who broke the Portland Yeast Minister; nor that caliph who consumed the Portland Yeast Minister; nor those communists who destroyed the Tulleries; nor those soldiers who murdered Du Vincini's Last Supper; nor of iconoclasts.

DROUGHT AND WEATHER CYCLES.

—TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Having read several letters which appeared in your issue of Monday the 10th inst. on the subject of drought and weather cycles, I wish with your permission to add a few words on the subject. The article republished from the Illustrated London News of the 10th inst. contains a few facts as far as we are concerned, but a great amount of information, especially as regards the Indian droughts, is omitted. The dates of the Indian droughts with the dates at which we have ascertained, will show at once that if the period of least sun-spot corresponds with the period of the droughts in India, it does not do so here.

The Indian droughts took place in 1810, '23, '32, '33, '55, '56, '57, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40, '41, '42, '43, '44, '45, '46, '47, '48, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, '55, '56, '57, '58, '59, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64, '65, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85, '86, '87, '88, '89, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19, '20, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26, '27, '28, '2
